	28.12	Forsal.pl: UKE announces changes in wholesale rates for cellular connections UKE service informed via Twitter that the wholesale rates for Mobile Termination Rates in 2010 will change from the asymmetry to the cost model P4 and CenterNet. The liquidation of assymetry in MTR rates was planned for liquidation in 2015. The European Commission wants asymmetrical rates to be liquidated in 2012 throughout Europe. Parkiet.com: TVN invests in the Internet Creating the service of video on demand is a further step in developing the Internet offer. In the first quarter the TVN Group will launch the video on demand service. The test version of the project launched before Christmas.
Rpkom.pl: Sierra Wireless won't be a supplier of Cyfrowy Polsat. The Canadian producer delivered network adapters for Cyfrowy Polsat only for a period of the current tests, as it did not meet the operator's expectations concerning the future supplies of the devices. The basic problem is that Cyfrowy Polsat needs USB adapters working in the 850 MHz (Sferia network) and 900 MHz (Aero 2 network) bands which are rarely used by global suppliers.	29.12
