	7.04	Rzeczpospolita: LTE auction: three times a charm  On Friday the Office of Electronic Communications (UKE) announced consultations of the 800/2600 MHz auction documentation for the third time in the last 9 months. Head of UKE changed the documentation in accordance with the views of Zygmunt Solorz-Żak, who was advocating for the construction of one joint network in the 800 MHz band. Play supported this idea by suggesting that each of the four operators may win only ¼ of the spectrum and that auction specifications should stimulate the companies to cooperate.  The most important changes include: moving the provision on the possibility of shared use of spectrum limited to 30 MHz as the maximum to the section describing commitments undertaken by the auction participants and deleting the provision concerning the spectrum cap, i.e. the limit for operators who already hold frequency ranges in the 900 MHz band. The latter means that all entities, who participate in the auction, can buy an equal amount of frequencies.
	8.04	Parkiet: Good quarter for Orange Polska  Analysts expect that Orange Polska could have generated PLN 3.07 billion in revenue, ca. PLN 930 million EBIDTA and over PLN 100 million net profit in the first quarter of 2014. Taking into account the one-off effect of the sale of web portal Wirtualna Polska, net profit could exceed PLN 200 million.  Results of phone number transfers show that the operator is striving to maintain its client base. In the first quarter Orange had a positive transfer balance of ca. 6 thousand numbers, which constitutes a significant improvement compared to the previous year.

	8.04	Rzeczpospolita: Clients transfer not only to Play  Two large mobile networks had a positive balance with respect to phone numbers transferred in the first quarter of 2014. Orange Polska joined Play. In the first quarter 402.7 thousand numbers were transfers in Poland, which constitutes an increase of 8.1% compared to the corresponding period of 2013. Play remains the leader on the MNP market, it received ca. 158 thousand numbers net. Orange Polska came second with a net increase of 5.7 thousand numbers. T-Mobile and Plus both lost numbers in net terms in the first quarter.  Rzeczpospolita: Advertising targets older people  According to MillwardBrown a new consumer trend valuing older people is becoming visible, and in consequence the field of marketing targeting elders is starting to grow. This group comprised 6.4 million people in 2010, and in 2020 will count 2 million more. At the same time the purchasing power of older people is growing. In the last 6 years the share of people with income exceeding PLN 2 thousand in the group aged above 60 years increased from 4.6% to 18%.  Following these changes, in February TVP began the bundled sale of ads targeted at the group of viewers aged 16-59. For years the so called commercial group comprised viewers in the 16-49 age group. Although TVP's move is not likely to make a difference on the TV market unless repeated by competitors, it is a forecast of future market changes.

Parkiet: Companies with and without potential for the second quarter

Analysts at Espirito Santo presented their investment suggestions for the coming quarter. Cyfrowy Polsat was on the "most attractive company" list.

According to the broker, Cyfrowy Polsat's stock price does not fully reflect the benefits stemming from the acquisition of Polkomel. Analysts emphasize that following the closure of the transaction 90% of EBIDTA profit will be generated by the defensive telecommunication company and digital pay-TV segments, while ca. 10% - by cyclic TV advertising. — The cumulated effect of synergies until 2019 following the conclusion of the transaction, estimated by the management at PLN 2 billion on the revenue side and PLN 1.5 billion on the cost side, should allow the company to increase revenue and EBIDTA profit as well as to raise EBIDTA margin by ca. 3.5% - said Konrad Księżopolski, head of analysts at BESI.

9.04 Rzeczpospolita: Orange promises a new smartphone every year

Orange Polska presented the terms of its new offers, which are to replace the telecom's current proposals for retail clients and small and medium enterprises. Just like Play, Polkomtel and Cyfrowy Polsat, Orange is also focused on selling the maximum number of services to households, offering discounts to subscribers who purchase an additional service. The distinguishing features of the new offer are minutes interchangeable with roaming conversations in more expensive subscription plans, but most of all a more frequent replacement of the client's phone. It will be possible every 12 months, that is after a year following the signing of a two-year agreement and will entail another two-year agreement.

Specialists point out that the proposal of Orange Polska is complicated and clients will have a problem with its full comprehension due to its complexity.

10.04 Parkiet: Orange has an idea for fast internet

How to connect all Poles to a fast internet network, as required by the European Commission? Orange Polska suggested the creation of a special purpose vehicle (SPV), which would invest i.a. in places, where the internet map shows blank spots. The SPV would use EU funds from the 2015-2020 perspective (ca. PLN 4.3 billion). The company would be a commercial entity and its stakeholders would comprise operators, equipment suppliers and financial institutions. Its main task would be the achievement of the goals of Operational Programme Digital Poland using public and private funds. The SPV would also act as wholesale operator and offer - on equal terms - access to the net to all telecommunication enterprises interested in the provision of retail services on a given territory.

	10.04	Rzeczpospolita: Digital harvest in TV (author: Anna Streżyńska)  By February 2014 the penetration of digital terrestrial television increased to almost 30%. The activation of three more multiplexes was announced. The consequences of introducing DTT on such a large scale are hard to access at present, but will comprise changes on both pay and free-of-charge TV markets, changes in market shares of main players, changes in shares on the advertising market, changes of prices of services as well as of the content of packages, especially directly competing basic packages of cable and satellite TV operators.  Frequencies liberated by analogue TV and destined for the eight multiplex will be allocated the DTT broadcasting. There is much interest in the reservation of those frequencies, as everyone wants to build their market position based on terrestrial frequencies and perceive the eighth multiplex as an opportunity to become visible on the market and compete on an equal basis in this mass segment of the market.
	12-13.04	Parkiet: TVN – buy-back approved  On Friday shareholders of TVN approved the buy-back plan. TVN wants to buy back up to 34 million own shares (up to 10% of share capital) for a maximum amount of PLN 500 million. The funds are to come from the reserve capital created from profits of previous years. All the company's shares are covered by the program. The buy-back price per share cannot exceed PLN 30. On Friday shares traded on the stock exchange at PLN 16.48.
